

Dear Ravi,

It is with great honor that I, Xavier Duportet, with the support of the French Ministry of Economy, write to announce that your project: Ovodex has been selected as a member of the Hello Tomorrow Top 500 Worldwide. You are cordially invited to attend our global Hello Tomorrow Summit in Paris on Oct 13-14th, 2016, with two complimentary tickets.

The Top 500 startups were selected by a rigorous panel of industry experts, scientists, entrepreneurs, who reviewed over 3,000 applications to select the startup projects that have the most potential. From this extremely competitive list, we are happy to announce that you have been selected.

Hello Tomorrow is the world's leading nonprofit to accelerate science and tech entrepreneurship. Our mission is to catalyze the intersection of top researchers, entrepreneurs, industry experts and financiers to build the next generation of companies that can really solve humanity's big challenges. Since 2011, we have accelerated the transformation of innovative science & technologies into impactful products in the fields of Data, Health, Agriculture, Energy, Environment, Transportation, Aeronautics, Wellbeing. Each year, we bring together a worldwide community of innovators, investors, industry leaders and influencers at the Hello Tomorrow Summit in Paris, and organize the Hello Tomorrow Challenge.

The Hello Tomorrow Challenge is the world's biggest early-stage startup competition for science and deep technology startups. Each year, we identify the Top 500 best projects of the Challenge to attend the Hello Tomorrow Summit in Paris, an invite only-event bringing together the people that will change the world using science and technology around top investors in each sector, industrial leaders (Airbus, Google[x], IBM, Roche, Air Liquide, Cisco, etc.), international media (Bloomberg, BBC, Wired, etc.) and influencers (in 2015, CTO of IBM, NASA, Google[x], CEO of Hyperloop)

We are happy to share with you this great honor of being selected. Please feel free use this letter as proof of the invitation to attend the Hello Tomorrow Challenge, when applying for any travel grants or visas.

We look forward to welcoming you at the Hello Tomorrow Summit in Paris in October.

Kind Regards,

Dr. Xavier Duportet,
Founder, Chairman of Hello Tomorrow
French Innovator of the year

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Xavier Duportet', is placed below the typed name.